

Screenplay

Narrator: Speed is a compulsion that man has had for thousands of years. But the use of Formula 1 cars is out of reach for ordinary people for those that want to experience speed. This means that most people who want to are unable however it's possible for people to get this rush with only 2 wheels and man power in the Peak District.

Narrator: So you see, The Peak District is more than a place for a quiet walk. It's also a place to go to experience the rush and thrills of speed.